

Thank you for expressing interest in writing for the Regions ezine (online magazine). The Regions ezine is the voice of the Regional Studies Association's community and publishes three themed issues per year. Regions aims to provide a comprehensive and insightful perspective on regional studies and science and will often seek to take an empirical approach through a combination of evidence-based case studies and theoretical analysis.

Contributing to Regions allows your work to be published quickly and widely shared across social media platforms. Additionally, each article is assigned a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) and made available in an open-access format, complete with direct links for easy sharing on social media. Follow us on Twitter to stay updated on our latest articles.

Submission Procedure:

If you are interested in writing a contribution for the Regions ezine, please email your idea (i.e. tentative title) and desired section (see below) to Office RSA email or, in the alternative:

- Regional Insights and Research Hacks: Eduardo Oliveira at email
- Spotlight: Stefania Fiorentino at email
- Research Frontline: Robert Bowen at email

We are excited to review your ideas and possibly feature your work in our publication. The editorial team will carefully evaluate your proposal, and if it aligns with our publication's focus, we will reach out to invite you to contribute. We look forward to hearing your ideas and working with you to share them with our readers.

For 2025, we have identified and proposed the overarching theme of "Transforming Regional Economies" to the regional studies community. Our focus will include the following topics and schedule:

Transforming Regional Economies
Topic 2025	Submission deadline	Publication date
Issue 21: Reflecting on the Past, Shaping the Future – Lessons from 60 Years of the RSA	April 2025	The first week of May
Issue 22: AI, Digitalization, and the Next Frontier of Regional Development	25 August 2025	The second week of September
Issue 23: TBuilding Resilient and Sustainable Regional Economies – The Role of Place-Based Strategies	8 December 2025	The second week of December

Word limits for each section:

- Regional Insights: Articles between 800 and 1000 words provide a fresh take on regional studies (Writing Sample).
- Research Frontline: Articles between 1500 - 2000 words reflecting innovative regional research (Writing Sample).
- Spotlight: Articles of 2000 - 2500 words taking an in-depth look at critical issues for regional studies (Writing Sample).
- Research Hacks: Articles of 800 - 1000 reflecting on academic experiences and practices (Writing Sample).

When submitting your contribution, kindly keep the following guidelines in mind:

- For all sections, case studies or practical examples are highly valued.
- Consider the audience and wider readership of the Regions ezine, and where possible, avoid using excessive jargon and technical language.
- Please do not use footnotes; use parenthesis for additional information.
- You may provide up to 6 pieces of supplementary material, such as pictures, tables, maps, infographics, videos etc. Please ensure photographs and videos have the highest resolution possible and include captions for all supplementary materials.
- Please send the supplementary materials separately to the email address for the written piece.
- Please ensure that copyright has not been infringed upon in using any material.
- Please provide a high-resolution portrait photo of yourself (optional) and a 40-word biography that includes your name, position, institutional affiliation, and critical research interests.
- Please limit references to a maximum of six and place the bibliography at the end of the document. Any referencing style is accepted; however, please include direct access to the respective publication as a hyperlink. Please let us know if you have any questions about these guidelines, and we will be happy to assist.

Example of a journal article with URL-DOI as an embedded hyperlink:

Shakoor, J., et al. (2011) 'A prospective longitudinal study of children's theory of mind and adolescent involvement in bullying', Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry, 53(3), pp. 254–261.

Example of a Web page by an individual with a URL as an embedded hyperlink:

Moon, M. (2019) Ubisoft put an official video game design course inside a video game.

Thank you for considering Regions ezine.

Editorial Team

Eduardo Oliveira | Stefania Fiorentino | Robert Bowen

(Version update: 29/03/2025)